NOTE: OIL BASED SCREEN INKS

Oil based screen inks of the past printed superbly well and were able to be used up to screen meshes as fine as 200 T. Hence the thickness of the layers was very low enabling up to 80 colours to be used in a single print. For these reasons there are still artists out there wishing to keep using the oil based systems even with the downside of solvent clean up. For this application we recommend a technique used in USA of making your own ink by adding two parts Faust etching ink to one part Winsor and Newton Liquin. Faust is the most buttery oil based etching ink in the world and heavily pigmented and available in a large range of colours in both tins and tubes where a small amount is required. See the colour charts for available colours and tints from Faust
